Guidance on Auction Lots

If you have multiple items in a lot, they must be grouped together either by tying them with string or rubber bands or by putting them in a cardboard box or tray. When you consider an item or lot for the auction, keep in mind that each lot should have a value of $40 or more. The purpose of this auction is to present desirable tools in good condition. We reserve the right to decide which items may be included in the auction. The auction manager has final say on how many lots we accept.

The amount consignors will receive for items will be the hammer price less a 15% commission.

POTOMAC ANTIQUE TOOLS AND INDUSTRIES ASSOCIATION

CONSIGNMENT AGREEMENT Spring 2018

I, _____, consign the items listed herein for public auction by the Potomac Antique Tools and Industries Association, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as "PATINA" or "The Association on Saturday, March 10, 2018). I agree to accept the final bid price less a 15% selling fee per lot which will be used to cover auction operating expenses and to fund The Association's public education programs. PATINA reserves the right to accept or reject selected consigned items based on their appropriateness or on the maximum number of items which may be auctioned during the allotted time. Consigned items which are not included in the auction on March 10, 2018 can be retained by PATINA for its next auction or returned to the consignor at the consignor's option. The consignor agrees to pay PATINA for the actual costs incurred in returning these items.

PATINA will acknowledge the receipt of consigned items by providing consignees with a signed and dated copy of the agreement and a print-out of the item(s) consigned. For mutual protection, if there is any question about the consignor's item(s) description and the item(s) received, and PATINA cannot reach the consignor to resolve the discrepancy, the item(s) will be excluded from the auction. PATINA will exercise reasonable care in the handling and the safe guarding of consignments while they are in PATINA's custody. PATINA will also provide lot net-realized information from the auction as soon as practicable after payments have been processed.

PATINA is organized as an IRS-approved Non-Profit association. The selling prices of tools and related items donated to PATINA for its auctions qualify as IRS tax deductions. The PATINA secretary will certify the selling prices for estates and donors.
